Investment objective

Causeway International Small Cap Fund seeks long-term growth of capital.

The Fund invests primarily in common stocks of companies with smaller market capitalizations located in developed and emerging markets outside the U.S. The Fund normally invests at least 80% of its total assets in equity securities of companies with smaller market capitalizations. Smaller market capitalization companies are companies with market capitalizations that do not exceed the highest market capitalization of a company within the Fund's benchmark, the MSCI ACWI ex USA Small Cap Index, at the time of purchase.

Fund features

- Actively managed, tracking-error oriented, quantitative strategy
- Combines bottom-up and top-down factors in security selection
- Supports strict risk controls in stock selection process
- Provides diversification benefits to a developed markets portfolio

The performance data quoted herein represents past performance. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth less than their original cost, and current performance may be lower than the performance quoted. For performance data current to the most recent month end, please call 1.866.947.7000.

Returns greater than one year are annualized. Total returns assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions at net asset value when paid. Investment performance reflects contractual fee waivers. In the absence of such fee waivers, total return would be reduced.

The MSCI ACWI ex USA Small Cap Index is a free float-adjusted market capitalization weighted index, designed to measure the equity market performance of smaller capital stocks in developed and emerging markets, excluding the US market. The index is gross of withholding taxes, assumes reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, and assumes no management, custody, transaction, or other expenses. It is not possible to invest directly in an index.

Market commentary

Increasingly dovish rhetoric from the US Federal Reserve and progress on US-China trade negotiations supported equity markets in the first quarter of 2019. International smaller capitalization ("cap") equities, as measured by the MSCI ACWI ex USA Small Cap Index ("Index"), performed in-line with international large caps in the quarter. Within international smaller cap equities, developed market small caps outperformed emerging markets small caps in the first quarter of 2019. From a sector perspective, the strongest performers in the Index were the information technology, energy, and real estate sectors. Consumer staples, financials, and materials were among the weakest performing sectors.

The Causeway International Small Cap Fund ("Fund") outperformed the Index during the quarter. To evaluate stocks in our investable universe, our multi-factor quantitative model employs four bottom-up factor categories – valuation, earnings growth, technical indicators, and quality – and two top-down factor categories assessing macroeconomic and country aggregate characteristics.

After a strong start to the year, value factors generated positive performance for the quarter, and they remain the best bottom-up factor group over the last twelve months. Earnings growth factors were the best-performing bottom-up factor group in the first quarter. Technical factors were the worst performing factor group for the quarter due to the numerous and sharp market reversals that we witnessed. The quality factor group was flat for the quarter. All bottom-up factor group returns are positive from the inception of the Fund to the end of March. Within our top-down factor groups, our macroeconomic factors posted positive returns in the quarter as countries with superior macroeconomic characteristics outperformed those exhibiting relatively weaker metrics. Returns to our country aggregate factors were also positive. Fund holdings in the information technology, real estate, and materials sectors contributed the most to outperformance relative to the Index. Holdings in the industrials, energy and utilities sectors offset a portion of the outperformance. Relative performance for the month can be mostly attributed to stock selection.

The largest contributor to performance was steel & iron distribution company, EVRAZ Plc (United Kingdom). Additional top contributors included property developer, Yuexiu Property Co., Ltd. (China), real estate developer, HASEKO Corp. (Japan), apparel company, Adastria Co., Ltd. (Japan), and liquid crystal display manufacturer, Coretronic Corp. (Taiwan). The largest detractor to performance was financial services company, Just Group Plc (United Kingdom). Additional top detractors included coal company, New Hope Corp. Ltd. (Australia), construction company, Implenia AG (Switzerland), automobile services provider, Bilja AB (Sweden), and transportation company, Nobina AB (Sweden).

Mutual fund investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. In addition to the normal risks associated with equity investing, international investing may involve risk of capital loss from unfavorable fluctuations in currency values, from differences in generally accepted accounting principles, or from economic or political instability in other nations. Emerging markets involve heightened risks related to the same factors, as well as increased volatility and lower trading volume. Investments in smaller companies involve additional risks and typically exhibit higher volatility. Current and future holdings are subject to risk. Diversification does not protect against market loss. There is no guarantee that securities mentioned will remain in or out of the Fund.

The market commentary expresses the portfolio managers' views as of the date of this report and should not be relied on as research or investment advice regarding any stock. These views and any portfolio holdings and characteristics are subject to change. There is no guarantee that any forecasts made will come to pass. Any securities identified and described do not represent all of the securities purchased, sold, or recommended for the Fund. The reader should not assume that an investment in any securities identified was or will be profitable.
